

Many Christians simply brush off the question of whether or not a woman should cover her head while she is praying or during meetings of the church. They consider the topic to be of low priority. What real significance does a head covering have in the 21st century anyway? On a relative scale of importance, the head covering certainly ranks lower than evangelism, holy living, Christology and many other central Christian teachings. Yet, no portion of Scripture, however trivial in our own minds, ought to be neglected. It is all the Word of God, and God proclaimed it for our benefit. So, what does the Bible specifically teach about head covering? Should women wear a head covering today during church meetings or at other times? What were the head covering practices of the early Church? Is a woman's hair an acceptable covering for her? Was Paul's teaching only addressing converted prostitutes? These and many more questions will be addressed within the confines of this book. Confusion over Biblical issues need not lead to controversy! Where there is a desire to learn from Scripture and an open heart to submit to revealed truth, God will bless with understanding.
