

Heartstrings and Tower Stones

Living about 2500 BC, in the shadow of the rising tower of Babel, Alera and Jotham have been best friends since childhood. They just want to marry each other and live happily ever after. But King Nimrod has other plans and is determined to make Alera his Queen. The feisty, knife-throwing, sometimes over-cocky Alera must convince the king to butt out of her life, while Jotham struggles to survive the kings rage and jealousy. As she faces trial after trial, Aleras meager faith in the idol gods of her people wanes and she and Jotham begin to discover the one true God. Together, they must learn to put their trust in Him. In a moment of angry weakness, Jotham defies Gods will and when the peoples language is confused during the destruction of the tower, Jotham finds that he no longer speaks the same language as his beloved wife. Now, they must face their ultimate trial, in a desperate attempt to save their precious marriage when the simplest communication is a monumental struggle.
